

Now look across all seven responses as a whole. Reflect back what you notice: what seems most significant, what feels most unresolved, and where my thinking appears most alive. Stay close to what I have actually written. Do not offer advice, plans or next steps.